Meeting in the TownHall @ 6:54
& via Zoom except 4th Monday night social

Windermere Rotary Club

Weekly Roundabout

Quote of the Week: "Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has."

Margaret Mead

Today's Program

Jim Schuppert

Club President

Club Assembly

The 4-Way Test

of things we do and say:

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

The club assembly is a regular Rotary Club meeting where there is no scheduled program but instead the club president does club business including having the Club directors report to the club on their projects, discuss upcoming fundraisers, agree on the budgets and discuss new membership recruitment.

We have lots of good information to share!

MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Greetings Windermere Rotary Fily

It is my pleasure to serve as your 2022-2023 President.

Before writing this, I took some time to look at the Rotary International website, Rotary.org. It is loaded with information and ways to learn more about all aspects of Rotary. Much of it is available in the area called My Rotary. When you register for My Rotary, you will have access to many things. You can check on your donations to The Rotary Foundation to find out how close you are to your next Paul Harris. The learning tab takes you to many training opportunities, especially when you check out the Learning Center. I noticed that just over half of our members have already registered. That's great and I hope more will do so in the future.

Gregg Anderson will be leading a Rotary website training session via Zoom on Tuesday evening July 26th at 7:00pm. He will provide an overview of our club website, the district site, including DACdb, and Rotary.org. If you haven't gone to one of Gregg's sessions, I encourage you to do so. Perhaps you have and need a refresher. Watch for the Zoom call link in your Roundabout or let Chuck Barcus know if you want to join the call.

See you Tuesday morning for our Club Assembly meeting!

Yours in Rotary Service - Jim

LATEST NEWS (euronews.next)

A new subvariant of Omicron is making headlines around the world, with health agencies and virologists believing it could likely become the dominant strain in the ongoing coronavirus pandemic. BA.2.75 is already becoming dominant in India, after it was first detected there in May. The subvariant has now been found in dozens of countries including the UK, Germany, and the Netherlands. Because it is overtaking the previously dominant strain in India - BA.5 - virologists think it is likely to be more transmissible and therefore likely to become dominant elsewhere. But they caution that they don't yet have enough data on the strain to make definitive statements like this. The Dutch Institute for Public Health announced this week that BA.2.75 had been identified in the Netherlands, saying little is known about it, although "it appears to be able to more easily bypass the defence built against the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus through small, specific changes".

This raises fears that it could potentially be adept at evading immunity built up through vaccination or previous COVID-19 infection.

Vaccination Update as of July 6, 2022

4 845 725 236 fully vaccinated or 62.1 % Worldwide

222 679 450 fully vaccinated or 67.6 % US population

14 549 762 fully vaccinated or 68.6 % Florida population

979 321 fully vaccinated or 74.12 % Orange County

Latest News (US News)

More Americans are catching the coronavirus for the second, third or even fourth time. And each time someone contracts COVID-19, they are rolling the dice on whether they will come down with serious health issues. It's a reinfection loop that is seizing the country with no immediate end in sight, and it is driven by a coronavirus variant scene that continues to quickly change. The majority of Americans have had COVID-19 at some point in time, according to estimates from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. But with more than 120,000 new infections reported on average each day – a number that is sure to be a significant undercount as many rely on at-home tests – the pool of Americans who haven't gotten COVID-19 is getting smaller while the number of Americans who are getting reinfected grows.

Of course, COVID-19 reinfection wouldn't be a major issue if it did not come with additional health risks. But that isn't the case. Ziyad Al-Aly, a clinical epidemiologist at Washington University in St. Louis, says he decided to study reinfections after more of his patients started reporting getting COVID-19 again, and he wondered if getting reinfected adds any adverse health risks.

"The answer is absolutely, absolutely yes," says Al-Aly, who is also the chief of research and development at the Veterans Affairs St. Louis Health Care System. "People need to really be aware that if they've previously been infected, it's still worth it to protect themselves from or to reduce the risk of getting reinfected."

In a recent study, which hasn't been peer reviewed yet, Al-Aly and other researchers found that people who had been reinfected had a greater chance of death, hospitalization, lung and heart problems, diabetes, fatigue, digestive and kidney disorders and mental health issues within six months of their last infection than those who had been infected once.
